

YAKIMA'S HISTORIC DISTRICT

Yakima's charming historic district along North Front Street encourages visitors to explore by foot, just like they would have when the neighborhood was founded a century ago. Not only is the historic district within walking distance of numerous downtown hotels, it is flush with free parking spaces, so visitors can leave their car behind and stroll for hours beneath sunny skies.

Paved with bricks, and lined with wide sidewalks and cast-iron lamp posts, North Front Street is anchored at East Yakima Avenue by Gilbert Cellars, a sophisticated tasting room and wine bar that serves the vintner's premium wines alongside inventive appetizers. Downstairs, Gilbert Underground has become a hip venue for live music.

Food lovers will be tantalized with the neighborhood's dining opportunities. The cozy Café Melange serves Mediterranean-inspired Pacific Northwest cuisine and close by, the quaint Carousel specializes in authentic French dishes such as steak au pore and coq au vin, while 5 North is the newest addition to the foodie scene, providing a metropolitan inspired atmosphere with its menu and lounge.

Long ago a saloon and hotel, The Barrel House is now known for satisfying American cuisine and an impressive list of local wines. The Yakima Valley is renowned for its award-winning wines – and rightly so, but beer-drinkers will also find themselves right at home in the Historic District, and nowhere more so than at Bob's Keg & Cork, a tiny but wildly popular pub in Yakima's former City Hall that pours a great selection of regional beers.

The Historic District is also home to two distinctive shops that share a green thumb. Garden Girl sells exuberant plants, fragrant herbs, chic pots and vases, and handmade soaps and candles. Unabashedly feminine, Garden Dance is an apparel, accessories and home furnishings boutique
